

arc VOLUNTEERING

Volunteering is an important element in the work of arc café. Although most volunteers are members of, or are associated with, the church, this is not always the case. We have a number who, on making enquiries, were given an application form which they completed and returned as required. Following this, they were interviewed and provided with some basic information about the workings of the café. They were then able to start working in arc with a minimum of fuss, on days and at times that suited them. It should be said that volunteers contribute by, for example:

- serving and clearing tables;
- making coffee;
- operating the till;
- washing dishes;
- brushing floors and tidying up at the end of a day;
- washing aprons;
- or by a combination of these tasks.

If you are interested in becoming a volunteer in arc, please complete and return the application form which is available on-line, or from Cliff Courtney, the café manager.
